

Battling With a Hot Cook Stove

Jack London in a recent article of the Northwest, sympathizes with a young wife because she had to "BATTLE WITH A COOK STOVE" BATTLE is a good word to convey the full force of the arduous duties of "keeping up" a wood or coal fire. It takes two to do the work and do it right—one to prepare the food or bake stuff and the other to play fireman. It is BATTLING to go outdoors in all manner of weather and carry in the fuel--BATTLING with contrary winds to get the right draught--BATTLING to keep an even temperature--BATTLING to carry out ashes and chips and splinters--BATTLING to overcome the heat--BATTLING to keep the cook good tempered.

There is NO BATTLE WITH A GAS RANGE—the fuel is brought to you—a match and a twist of the wrist lights it—the temperature can be set at any degree of heat and it will stay "set"—there is no dirt, no smut and no heated Kitchen and Rooms—life is happy when you use a gas range.

FASHION RAISES A SILK QUERY

With the furor which Dame Fashion has aroused for silks there appears to be dissatisfaction with some that the fabric is used so extensively for dresses intended for practical uses. It is contended that when silk is worn by business women when in the store or office, or when it is thrown on carelessly by the housewife when she goes on a shopping expedition it detracts from the appearance of the fabric, and as so much silk is seen where a practical dress is supposed to be more in keeping with the purpose for which it is used, that it makes all silk so common that it cannot be luxurious when a really dressy gown is desired.

Silk may seem to the business woman to be a practical material. Many makes of it are waterproof, it sheds dust well, and threads or lint do not stick to it; but the question arises, When we wear silk at the desk, what are we to wear when we want to dress for evening? That really seems to be the logical time to wear silk, but if we have worn it all day it has lost much of its attractiveness, although the evening gown may be of an entirely different color and design.

Not only is there the fact that silk has become common through its usage for all occasions, but as soon as a particular fabric there promptly appear so many imitations and cheap qualities on the market that one cares much less for the better grades, and this has proven true of silks. Messalines, which appeared so attractive a couple of seasons ago, have been made up in such cheap, sleazy qualities that with many people they have lost much of their desirability.

Since fashion has given her approving nod to silk for almost all occasions, it remains an individual question as to how far it shall be adopted, but many contend that she employs some fabrics in women's wear without due regard to conditions, and, as in other lines, women must use their own practical judgment and good taste as to the adoption of it.

OPTICIAN RECOVERS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Hearing that W. H. Smith, the optician of Mason City, Iowa, had recovered from Bright's Disease we wrote him and take the following items from his reply.

"Specialists pronounced my case Bright's Disease and incurable and advised me to go south to prolong my life. Went to Mineral Wells, Texas. Became terribly bloated. Physicians there made tests and found casts and almost solid albumen. Several at the Wells who had been cured by Fulton's Renal Compound persuaded me to take it. Drops dropped forty-five pounds in fourteen days. In three months I was back to business."

I continued the treatment over two years, and during the last four years have not found it necessary to use any medicine. I have received many letters, all of which I have answered. Through my correspondence I have learned of a number of recoveries.

The ability of Fulton's Renal Compound to oppose renal degeneration and reduce albumen in many cases of Bright's disease is not a matter of opinion but a FACT IN PHYSICS, and we will mail formula for albumen test that will show the percentage from week to week. As the albumen declines improvement commonly follows, recoveries having been reported in thousands of cases. Formula and literature mailed on request. John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco. JAY A. URICE TO BE HOME FROM TRIP TO MAINLAND AUGUST 4

Jay A. Urice, educational secretary of the local Young Men's Christian Association, will return to Honolulu from a tour of the mainland August 4. Mr. Urice has spent the past two months visiting mainland associations, attending Y. M. C. A. conferences and studying modern methods of educational work.

The Thursday night lectures which have been such a popular feature at the local association during the past year will be resumed after Mr. Urice returns. Last week's lecture by Alexander Hume Ford on "Pacific Patriotism" closed the summer series. Mr. Urice on his return will arrange courses and teachers for the night school classes which commenced at the end of September. He doubtless will bring back with him many new ideas gained from a study of Y. M. C. A. night schools on the mainland.

NIGHT FIRING BEST SEEN FROM SEASIDE

The Seaside hotel should be the objective point these evenings from which to watch the night firing of the Coast Artillery forces. Plenty of seats are at the public's free disposal. The beach front at the Seaside furnishes the best view of the spectacular military big gun drill. Come tomorrow night and watch this interesting target practice.—advertisement.

ROWLAND M. CROSS TO VISIT OLD HOME AND STUDY FOR MINISTRY

Rowland M. Cross, for the past two years secretary of the employed boys' department of the Honolulu Young Men's Christian Association, will leave for San Francisco August 4 en route to his home in Livingston, Montana. After a month's visit there he will proceed to New York City where he will enter the Union Theological Seminary to begin a study for the ministry.

Mr. Cross at present is in charge of the boys' summer school at the Y. M. C. A., which is enjoying a very successful season. During the week he will turn over the school to Charles F. Loomis who recently returned from a month's vacation on the mainland. Mr. Loomis will have entire charge of the boys' work during the coming year. The closing event of the employed boys' department under Mr. Cross' direction will take place July 27 when a supper will be given at which the banners and prizes for the year's athletics will be given out. Several entertaining features have been planned for that evening, and all the members of the employed boys' department are expected to be present.

SHE IS A WISE WOMAN

Who recognizes in the telltale symptoms such as headache, dizziness, dragging sensations, nervousness and irritability the true cause and relies on Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore her to a healthy normal condition. For forty years this root and herb remedy has been pre-eminent successful in controlling the diseases of women. Merit alone could have stood such a test of time.—advertisement.

KOREAN Y. M. C. A. TO FIND WORK FOR COUNTRYMEN

The Korean Y. M. C. A., recently organized under the direction of S. H. Choi, has appointed an employment committee to work with a like committee of the central association in efforts to find work for unemployed Koreans in Honolulu. It is planned to establish a bureau similar to that of the Filipino information and employment agency.

As a beginning of this work, Mr. Choi is securing applications from Koreans who are in search of employment. Of the first eight men registered last month, work was found for six. At present there are 12 men looking for jobs. Most of these are qualified for and prefer house work or yard work. One is looking for a janitor's position and another is a tailor.

The Korean association asks the support of any person who may wish to employ Korean help of any kind. Mr. Choi may be reached at the Korean school in the morning and at the Korean Y. M. C. A., Miller street above Beretania, in the afternoon. He may also be reached through the central association office.

KAMEHAMEHA ALUMNI REVERE MEMORY OF MISS IDA M. POPE

Simple but impressive memorial services were held in Kawaiahao church at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the alumnae of the Kamehameha Schools, for Miss Ida M. Pope, who died at the home of her sister in Chicago recently after closing her twentieth year as principal of the Kamehameha Girls' School. Aside from the large number of former students of Kamehameha, many prominent Honolulu residents, intimate friends of Miss Pope, were in attendance at the services.

The services were conducted by Rev. H. H. Parker, for more than 50 years pastor of Kawaiahao, he being assisted by Rev. J. L. Hopwood, pastor of the Kamehameha chapel; Rev. W. H. Poal, Rev. H. K. Poepeo and Rev. Akana. Special music was provided by Miss Edith Gattfield, organist, and D. French, violinist. Among the trustees of Kamehameha present were W. O. Smith, A. F. Judd, W. R. Castle, Rev. William Brewster Oleson, Theodore Richards and U. Thompson.

The teaching of home economics is now required by law in the elementary schools of Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Montana, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Washington.

Honolulu, H. T., June 18, 1914.

Gentlemen:

Sometime ago we received from a mainland trust company an exceedingly attractive postal card containing on one side a colored cut of a large safe deposit vault.

As we had made plans for new quarters in an entirely new building just nearing completion and had installed a large new safe deposit vault, similar to the one shown in the cut just above mentioned, it occurred to us this was an excellent form of advertising and assuming that we could only have such work done on the Mainland, we were about to drop the matter when someone informed us that you did this class of work.

An order was placed with you, which has just been filled, and we wish to extend to you our hearty congratulations on the excellent results.

In our opinion you have surpassed the work done on the cut which we received from this Mainland Trust Co. and it is a pleasure to know that we have a printing establishment here in Honolulu, namely, your own, which is a special class of colored printing, such as this, can equal, if not excel, the best printing firms on the Mainland.

Yours very truly,

HAWAIIAN TRUST COMPANY, LIMITED.

Folks Differ In Taste

But the most particular people agree that the flavor of distinguishes them from all other flaked foods.

With cream or milk, fresh or stewed fruit—a treat worth trying.

Post Toasties are made of white maize, cooked and toasted to a crisp, appetizing "brown."
